

Two-Player Games: Nim

To play, take turns removing pennies. You can take as many pennies as you'd like, but they can only be from one row.

So during your turn, you could take one or two from the first row, or you could take one, two, or three from the second, or one, two, three, or four from the third row.

The person who is left with the last penny loses!